

NEW DEPARTMENT CHAIR WORKSHOP SEPTEMBER 19, 2017 LESLYN KRAUS, DIRECTOR AUDIT & MANAGEMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

Topics To Cover Today

• What to do if your department is audited by external agency.

• Critical department practices that help prevent problems.

Question

You receive a notice that an external agency will be conducting an audit. Which of the following is appropriate:

- a. Order a "Do not Disturb" sign for your door.
- b. Ignore the auditors. An audit notice is like a subpoena. Unless it is handed to you in person, the auditors can't begin their work.
- c. Contact your Dean's Office and Audit and Management Advisory Services.
- d. Fill up a U-Haul truck with all the documents you think the auditors might want, and send it off to them.

External Audits

If from an awarding agency:

- Contact your Dean and Assistant Dean
- Contact Amy Holzman, External Audit Coordinator (530) 752-9169 amholzman@ucdavis.edu

If compliance related:

• Contact Wendi Delmendo, Chief Compliance Officer (530) 752-9466

We teach "How to Survive an Audit" as part of the Research Administrators Certificate Series.

Or, how to keep your department out of trouble......

It is helpful if you understand typical internal control weaknesses and what processes, procedures or organizational structures can help.

Question

Critical department procedures that support effective financial oversight include all but the following:

- a. Ensure the PI's are monitoring grants to ensure expenses are allowable.
- b. Ensure that only trustworthy staff have access to your passwords.
- c. Ensure that there are adequate separation of duties for financial transactions.
- d. All of the above support effective financial oversight.

Password protection:

Make sure everyone understands how important it is to protect their passwords.

Controls have been circumvented at UC Davis because passwords were shared.

Financial Systems are designed to ensure separation of duties but not if passwords are shared.

Grant Monitoring:

Make sure PIs are monitoring grants to ensure expenses are allowable and allocable.

PI is in the best position to assess appropriateness.

Lack of oversight regarding extramural funding creates a huge vulnerability.

Separation of duties:

Two people should be part of every transaction. For example, if one person authorizes a transaction, someone else should verify the goods or services were received.

The person authorizing should have sufficient knowledge to vouch for validity of the transaction.

Financial Oversight:

A department chair is the equivalent of the department CEO. You should be provided with financial information in sufficient detail so that you understand the financial performance of your department.

Be engaged and understand your department's financial and administrative operations.

Ask questions if you don't understand!

Financial Oversight, Continued:

You don't have time to ensure the appropriateness of every transaction. But asking pointed questions strengthens the atmosphere of control.

The cost of a control needs to be compared to the benefits or the risk mitigated.

We're Here to Help!

Audit and Management Advisory Services is available to assist you. Don't hesitate to contact us and take advantage of our advisory services.

- Leslyn Kraus, Director
 (530) 752-9168
- *
- Tony Firpo, Interim Associate Director (530) 752-9171
- Amy Holzman, External Audit Coordinator (530) 752-9169